RAILROAD STRIKE IS FELT WITH VENGEANCE HERE;
MAILS PRACTICALLY NIL AT BRISTOL POSTOFFICE;
NO FREIGHT REACHES BRISTOL IN 2-DAY PERIOD

Baggage Cars Dropped from Number of P. R. R. Trains—
Only A Question of Time Before Effects Seriously
Felt by Local Industries — Passenger Trains Late, Hampering Commuters in Reaching Jobs — Embar-goes in Effect on Most Main Railroads.

The strike of railroadmen is being felt in this area with a vengeance today. The mails have dropped to practically nothing at the Bristol post office, and no freight has reached Bristol for two days. Outgoing shipments are not being made. Baggage cars have been dropped from a number of Pennsylvania Railroad trains stopping here. It is only a question of time before the effects may become serious on the local industries. There has been similar effect upon Railway Express shipments, except what is being handled in trucks.

The Bristol post office today resembled Mother Hubbard's cupboard. One-half pouch of mail was received this morning, whereas the usual number of pouches run from eight to 10. Last evening most of the first-class mail and some second-class was received. There were two pouches of parcel post goods received. The carriers are cleaning up what had accumulated.

At Bristol freight station today, it was stated that the situation today is worse than it was yesterday, with practically all local industries affected. "There has been no 'drill' service since Wednesday morning," it was stated. "We are not accepting any freight, and not receiving any," the spokesman added. "Embargoes are in effect on all the main railroads throughout the United States." It was stated, however, that local freight and passenger station employees are on the job.

From the passenger station here came information that all west-bound trains were running late this morning. The 6.32 train was 40 minutes late; the 7.25 an hour late; the 7.51 was 15 minutes late; and the 8.25 did not run at all. However, those who arrived for the 8.25 train were accommodated on the late 7.25. East-bound trains were on time up to 8.30, it was announced.

Passenger train service to the West and South was curtailed by the Pennsylvania Railroad today as a wildcat switchmen's strike cut Philadelphia industry supplies to a trickle.

Freight movements were all but halted in the area, while incoming sea cargoes piled up on piers and supply stockpiles dwindled. A meat shortage loomed and hard coal mines began serving lay-off notices.

The PRR announced that seven passenger trains linking New York and Philadelphia with western points were being annulled today "until further notice."

These included the Trail Blazer and Admiral to Chicago, the Jeffersonian and American to St. Louis, and the Susquehanna and Juniata to Pittsburgh.

At the same time, the carrier suspended the New York-Washington phase of 10 trains for the South, advising prospective passengers to check with the railroad on available service.

Expressing regret at the curtailment, the PRR pointed out that in Philadelphia alone some 1400 switchmen and trainmen had "reported sick" in the past three days. Previously, the Pennsylvania

THE WAR

By Howard Handelman
(Far Eastern Director, I. N. S.)
TOKYO, Feb. 2—(INS)—Allied troops advanced more than a mile closer to Seoul in Korea's west sector today as remnants of at least two Chinese Red regiments retreated on the central front from the scene of a crushing defeat.

International News Service war correspondent Robert Schakne reported from the central area that the "decimated" Chinese left some 3,600 of their fallen on the field after a bloody 30-hour battle with U. S. and French troops.

The front dispatch said the surviving Chinese "limped north from the Sinchon railroad tunnel area," 35 miles east-southeast of Seoul, "leaving stacks of their dead around a French-American regimental combat team they had surrounded but could not conquer."

Schakne's field message quoted a U. S. 10th Corps spokesman as saying the Chinese abandoned their powerful attempt to outflank United Nations troops below Seoul "after a 30-hour siege."

Allied ground patrols counted the bodies of 1,300 Chinese dead in the tunnel area alone, while officers estimated the total enemy casualties at about 3,600 in the savage battle that ended early Friday.

The American-French regiment, aided by a relief column and swarming U. N. planes, broke out of the enemy trap near Sinchon, northeast of Yolu, late Thursday (Korean time).

After some further fighting during the night, the remaining Chinese broke off contact and fled from the hilly battlefield where they had suffered casualties at the rate of more than 100 an hour.

These men are employees of the Philadelphia and Reading Coal and Iron Co. Spokesmen for the anthracite industry, however, warned that a continuing rail strike would endanger the jobs of all 75,000 hard coal miners.

Arthur E. Dennis, vice-president of the National Meat Council, said the strike had already cut down the availability and choice of meats. A large proportion of livestock is shipped by rail, he explained.

The Pennsylvania Railroad says it will attempt to maintain curtailed service on all six commuter lines in the Philadelphia area today.

The PRR yesterday operated all but nine of 50 commuter trains scheduled during the morning peak. A spokesman said only the Norristown line remained on normal schedule.

POLITICS AND PRICE CONTROLS

As the price-wage picture develops, more and more reasons show up why the present system of controls is improper and should be abandoned as quickly as possible.

Whether so intended or not, the stop-gap plan was a piece of power-politics benefitting no one except the Washington bureaucrats. It is not price-wage control at all, nor price-wage regulation. The order merely serves as a fence to herd all citizens affected into the hands of bureaucracy, where each case can be and is given separate treatment.

What this means is that prices and wages are to be dealt with, not by laws and directives, but by scores or hundreds or thousands of petty dictators, with an occasional flourish by the big dictators at the top of the agency.

How quickly this will become intolerable to the American public is anybody's guess. But nothing in the history of the American people hints that they will long submit to being pushed around by their "public servants" under the cloak of codes which do not set forth in black and white what it is the citizens of this nation are supposed to do.

What is dictatorship? There is a very simple way of measuring any administration to see how far it has proceeded towards dictatorship. The method is to run through the laws, and see whether it is these laws which govern, or the public officials "interpreting" these laws.

There is a great and fundamental distinction, which has been recognized by freedom-loving peoples since the

Public Hearing on Proposed Upper Makefield Twp.
Ordinance Held Up

ORDINANCE COPIES

WASHINGTON CROSSING, Feb. 2—A delay of at least two weeks is announced for the public hearing on the proposed Upper Makefield township zoning ordinance.

The zoning board, and the board of supervisors, it is stated, are required to wait until maps are printed before the hearing date is set. The date for such hearing must follow at least 15 days after the date of the announcement, according to Pennsylvania State Law.

Copies of the proposed ordinance are available and there is no charge. They may be had at the office of Joseph G. Park at the corner of the Washington Crossing-Newtown road and the Upper River road. They also may be obtained from any of the three supervisors, H. Edward Leach, L. Ivins Smith or John J. Walsh.

The purpose of the ordinance, according to Park, one of the members of the zoning board, is to keep things as they are in reference to the value of property. He added that the sooner the ordinance becomes law the better, as the steel mill and other corporations coming into the area will bring residents and other businesses with them.

The zoning movement was started by the Washington Crossing Rotary Club.

and "Rustorize" Paints

IS ON BEAVER ROAD

A paint firm has succeeded a paint firm as occupant of a plant at Beaver road and Route 13. The new occupant is the McCormack Medl Corporation, which is occupying the entire plant formerly housing Bristol Paint & Chemical Company.

There the McCormack firm is manufacturing paints and enamels. It specializes in an odorless paint under the trade name of "O-Dor-Les," and a very recent development, "Rustorize." The latter, it is stated by officials of the firm, can be applied on rusty metal surfaces without sand-blasting or other costly cleaning methods. This paint, it is added, has been very well received by the public.

To Raise $32,000 In
Bucks County

WORKERS ARE ACTIVE

The annual budget campaign for maintenance of the Bucks County Council, Boy Scouts of America, got under way in all parts of the Council area yesterday.

The campaign this year is for $32,000. In planning the campaign the finance committee not only sets an amount to be derived from a successful campaign, but is also interested in the number of contributors which are known as "Friends of Scouting." This year the goal for Friends of Scouting has been set at 10,000 and every effort will be made by the large group of men and women who are chairmen and campaign solicitors to reach the goal.

The budget is set up by the finance committee of the Council

Third Bristol Resident in Two Days Finds Self Facing Gun
in Hands of Masked Bandit — Would-Be Robbers
Apparently Scared Off As They Attempt to Burglarize Safe in Local Office.

Two more episodes in the wave of crime which broke in Bristol this week occurred during the past 24 hours. Bristol Chief of Police Linford J. Jones has mobilized his officers, and he is being assisted by Chief Bucks County Detective Fred Kohler, Doylestown.

The latest offenses reported are the hold-up of a Bristol housewife in the kitchen of her home, and the attempted safe-cracking in a local business office.

Mrs. Mary DeLorenzo, 1114 Wood street, is the third Bristolian within two days to find herself facing a gun, with a masked bandit at the other end. She was the victim of an abortive attempt at armed robbery last evening. Early Wednesday morning Harry Straus and daughter, Miss Charlotte Straus, Mill street, were victims of a hold-up in front of the Farmers National Bank of Bucks County. Each was "covered" with a gun at that time by masked men.

It was at 7.35 last evening, as Mrs. DeLorenzo sat in the kitchen of her home, that she heard someone enter the shed. Opening the door to the shed, she states she saw a tall, thin man standing there, his entire face covered with a thin, black scarf. He had a pistol in his hand. Mrs. DeLorenzo informed police that there were no holes cut in the scarf which covered his entire face, it apparently being sheer enough for the man to breathe and see through. On his hands were gloves, so no part of his skin was visible. "A cap was pulled low," she adds. He demanded money. Mrs. DeLorenzo says she grabbed for the scarf which covered his face, and at that instant the man turned and fled. "I don't know why, but I didn't feel a bit afraid at the time; I seemed to have courage to grab for the scarf."

Mrs. DeLorenzo's husband, James DeLorenzo, at the time of the hold-up, was across the street in the cafe which he operates, and the DeLorenzos' daughter, Miss Josephine DeLorenzo, was on the second floor of her home, unaware of what was transpiring downstairs. As the man fled, Mrs. DeLorenzo called to her daughter, and then police were notified.

Mrs. DeLorenzo, the mother of three, also has two grandchildren.

The attempted safe-cracking at the office of Artesian Coal Co., was discovered by a member of the firm, Arthur Seyfert, when he reached the office this morning. The thief or thieves were apparently scared off, as the job was not completed. What remained to indicate the attempt were marks on the safe; a broken window in the rear of the building where the intruder or intruders gained entrance, and a broken lock on an inner door.

"We believe the attempt was made by experts," said Chief Jones today. "There were no fingerprints found."

TO HEAR DEACONESS

Miss Beckworth, of Deaconess House, Philadelphia, will address those who attend the Bucks County Young Adult supper meeting in Bristol Methodist Church on Saturday, Feb. 10th. The hour is 6.30, and those desiring reservations may contact Mrs. Morris Carter, 416 Lafayette street, by Feb. 5th.

Keen Interest Shown In Social Security Talk

Reuben R. Blane, manager of the Social Security Administration field office in Trenton, N. J., was the guest speaker at the Bristol Exchange Club meeting in the Elks home last evening. President William Lloyd presided.

Mr. Blane gave a most interesting and informative talk on the application of the new Social Security law and how it contributes to the public welfare, calling special attention to the booklet containing 47 questions and answers, published by the Federal Security Agency, Bureau of Old Age and Survivors Insurance.

The keen interest of those present was very evident in the many questions asked in connection with the talk, and presumably each one had some question pertaining to his own status or as to how this new law will apply to someone in his employ.

At the conclusion of a 30 minute question period it was unanimously decided to forward a letter to Mr. Blane's immediate superior in the Social Security Administration, thanking him for sending to the club a man so thoroughly familiar with the subject in which all are vitally interested.

EXTEND REGISTRATION

Because of inclement weather officials of the Penn State Class Center in Bristol have extended the registration period, according to an announcement made this morning by A. E. Lewis, director of the School. Registrations may be made next week on two evenings, February 5 and February 8, from 7 to 9 in Bristol High School.

Trap Knife-Wielding Hold-Up Man

Philadelphia—A young knife-wielder who pulled a $180 hold-up was trapped today when his victim wrecked his sedan to attract police. Jack Mallin, South Philadelphia tavern owner, left his cafe early today and got into his car when he felt a knife in back of his neck. The thug ordered Mallin to turn over his wallet, containing $180. Mallin obeyed and kept driving. When he spotted a police car, he swerved in front of it and crashed into a tree. The thug tried to flee on foot but two policemen quickly nabbed him and identified him as John D. Brady.

FRIDAY, FEBRUARY 2, 1951

THE MILLIONTH

The year 1951 will be notable for this bit of circumstance among others: The millionth wartime death from U. S. traffic accidents tary service, and the millionth death from U. S. traffic accidents since 1900. Insurance company figures make no mention of accidents in horsepowered traffic, but those deaths in the early years of the century must have been negligible compared to the current slaughter by motor-driven vehicles.

Automobiles have killed more than twice the number of soldiers killed in action since 1775. (Disease accounted for hundreds of thousands of military deaths up through the Civil War, the Spanish-American War and the first World War). And in a comparison of war-wounded and traffic-injured, the contrast is terrific. The 1,250,000 men wounded are only one-twenty-fifth the number of persons injured in automobile accidents since 1900.

Where is the traffic death-rate the highest? On country and suburban roads, not in city streets. Speeding is the leading cause of such deaths. The hours of darkness are the worst time for accidents, and icy surfaces in winter magnify the hazards of being on the road at any hour of the clock.

The keynote of the 1951 safety campaigns will be the need to cut down on speeding. General observance of sane speeds ought to help in the defense effort, too, by saving gasoline, tires and machinery hard to replace.

MUTTON ONCE A WEEK

Britain is on the verge of becoming a nation of vegetarians—though not as a result of the precept and example of the late George Bernard Shaw. Wisely or unwisely, Britain's socialist government has concentrated on replacement of bombed and obsolete construction at the expense of the consumer, and meat consumption has been particularly hard hit. Britain's worst enemy could no longer sneer at her as a nation of beef-eaters.

The present weekly ration of meat for one British is slightly less than 12 cents' worth. Even though meat prices are quite a bit lower over there, 12 cents won't buy much meat. It will get approximately a quarter of a pound of tough, gamy mutton. The amount of steak it will buy would hardly provide a full portion for a midget in Lilliput.

This means about one meat meal a week. But that's not the worst. The government has now announced this ration is to be cut by another 20 per cent, and housewives are sore about it. They were hoping for things to get better. And they are not readily appeased by the explanation that the cut is due to failure to agree with Argentina on arrangements for meat imports.

Facts like this one should be kept in mind when proposals are advanced to push the U. S. farther ahead on the road to socialism.

Bucks County Council rates very high in its program of Scouting and camping both nationally and in Region III. This work can be continued only with the whole-hearted support of the citizens of the communities of the Council area. YOU CAN SURVIVE THE ATOM BOMB

KNOW THE BOMB'S TRUE DANGERS. KNOW STEPS YOU CAN TAKE TO ESCAPE THEM

What About Radios and Telephones?

EVEN THOUGH YOUR TELEPHONE MAY CONTINUE TO WORK, USE IT ONLY FOR TRUE EMERGENCIES

NEITHER explosive nor lingering radioactivity has any effect on the operation of most mechanical or electrical devices. Unless the wires are down or there is a power failure, both your lights and telephone should continue to work. But don't rush to the phone just to find out how Aunt Susie may have weathered the attack. Leave the lines open for real emergency traffic.

The bomb's radioactivity will not interfere with the operation of your radio. In the event of attack, be sure to turn it on. It may be your main source of emergency instructions. And don't forget: Battery-operated portable sets, including those installed in automobiles, will continue to work even if the city power goes off. Television reception, like radio, won't be jammed by radioactivity.

What About Automobiles?

KEEP THE FAMILY CAR OFF THE STREET. RADIOACTIVITY WILL NOT INTERFERE WITH ITS OPERATION

One more household suggestion: In times of emergency don't park the family automobile on the street. Leave the way clear for emergency traffic. Keep the windows rolled up to prevent possible contamination of the interior by underwater or ground bursts and don't worry whether or not it will run. Radioactivity won't interfere with operation of its fuel or ignition system.

ily, including children, old people, or shut-ins. It would be a good idea to talk over the facts with all members of the family to be sure each understands. People with school children should discuss the articles with teachers and other parents at PTA meetings and similar gatherings.

You may be sure that, in times of emergency, all schools will be well organized for the protection of children.

Children old enough to understand can be taught to do the right things. Younger children simply will have to depend on their parents.

To Sum Up

BLAST AND HEAT ARE THE GREATEST DANGERS YOU FACE

To sum up, always remember that blast and heat are the two greatest dangers you face. The things that you do to protect yourself from these dangers usually will go a long way toward providing protection from the explosive radioactivity loosed by atomic explosions.

While the lingering radioactivity that occasionally follows some types of atomic bursts may be dangerous, still it is no more to be feared than typhoid fever or other diseases that sometimes follow major disasters. The only difference is that we can't now ward it off with a shot in the arm; you must simply take the known steps to avoid it.

KEEP YOUR HEAD. DON'T TOUCH OFF A PANIC THAT MAY COST YOUR LIFE

If you follow the pointers in the series, you stand far better than an even chance of surviving the bomb's blast, heat, and radioactivity. What's more, you will make a definite contribution to civil defense in your community, because civil defense must start with you. But if you lose your head and blindly attempt to run from the dangers, you may touch off a panic that will cost your life and put tremendous obstacles in the way of your Civil Defense Corps.

law of history. Government by law, where it is the representatives of the people who make the laws, is free government, popular sovereignty, rule by the consent of the governed—true republican government as prescribed by our Constitution.

Rule by men is tyranny, dictatorship, absolutism. It may be well-intended, benevolent, limited, under one set of administrators; but the machinery is at hand for these officials or their successor to become absolute despots whenever they wish.

Rule by law involves certain factors. The laws must be clear as to duties and obligations—vagueness and uncertainty produce a situation in which the administrators, "interpreting" the law, can do as they wish. Moreover, because the citizen and the public official are bound to disagree on the meaning of the law, there must be some independent and impartial arbiter to say whether the administrator of the law is sticking to it and to the basic constitution, or is going beyond the one or the other.

Is this procedure being followed under the price-wage setup? Far from it. Neither the basic law authorizing price-wage controls, nor the directives issued thus far, contain any formula by which the citizen can know what is permitted and what prohibited. If, with the best of intentions, he attempts to operate under an interpretation which strikes him as fair and reasonable, he can not be sure that he will not be punished savagely for what is nothing more than a difference of construction of words whose intended meaning is far from clear.

It is strange that the Truman Administration, having burned its fingers so badly with an OPA setup which was faulty in these two fatal points—incomprehensibility of the orders, lack of an impartial tribunal to deal with disputes between government and citizen—should have repeated the same errors.

And it is strange also that Eric Johnston, who has always had a good reputation for being level-headed and business-like and public-minded, should have jeopardized his standing by letting himself be used as the screen for directives which are vague, arbitrary, and impossible of administration except by the "interpretation" of minor bureaucrats at each of the millions of points where matters come into dispute.

Possibly Mr. Johnston's friends felt the selection was a compliment to him. Time will tell whether the Washington sharpshooters were looking for an executive and leader—or simply for a Holder of the Bag.

At any event, Mr. Johnston cannot afford to delay the issuance of new and more adequate orders in the place of the first, "stop-gap" price-wage directive, which is probably unconstitutional and certainly un-American.

Surely we are not ready, despite the gravity of the international situation, to surrender our fundamental rights and liberties. And surely Mr. Johnston does not really intend to ask the American people to do so.

"WASHINGTON REPORT"

By FULTON LEWIS, JR.
(Copyright, 1950
King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

WASHINGTON, Feb. 2—A Senatorial sub-committee investigating the defeat of Millard Tydings, the Maryland Democrat, has turned loose a crew of peculiarly equipped investigators whose chief accomplishment to date seems to have been to roundly annoy a sizeable number of American voters.

Senator John Butler, the Maryland Republican who ousted Tydings with a 40,000 vote majority, is building up a head of steam over the tactics used by the investigators. He's getting tired of having his friends annoyed. He has no quarrel with the sub-committee members: Senator Mike Monroney, D., of Oklahoma, and Senator Margaret Chase Smith, R., of Maine, Butler's attitude is that they don't know what's going on.

The Senator, as a freshman member, also has no quarrel with the Senate in general. It's all right with him if the Senate wants to investigate how he licked Tydings. He did it, but good, and is proud of it.

One investigator, prowling around Baltimore, Maryland, on the basis of reports reaching Butler, has managed to growl at almost every one of Butler's major campaign supporters. Another clobbered up a Washington banker's day by demanding to see the checking account of a Butler-for-Senator aide who helped address campaign postcards.

Another staff member of the Monroney-Smith sub-committee informed a Butler campaign worker that he was not interested in how much money Tydings spent in the campaign, but was determined to locate the "evil influences who used Butler campaign workers as a cover for their illegal acts."

This interests Butler, as well, but he doubts that the sub-committee investigators will find any evil influences in the Catholic charity Sisters who addressed campaign postcards for him at a penny each so they could build up their charity hospital fund.

Edward A. McDermott, chief counsel of the sub-committee, was unable to tell me how much training his investigators had. He was asked specifically about Louis Freed and William Golden, two staff aides who have worked the Washington-Baltimore beat. McDermott said he did not have their personnel records, so he could not say how much investigative experience the two possessed. Since Washington is full of capable, government trained investigators, it behooves any Congressional committee to hire only the best available.

Two recent examples of the tactics employed have raised a question in Butler's mind in this connection. One investigator called at the home of a Butler campaign worker to interrogate the head of the house. Both parents were absent. A thirteen-year-old daughter was baby-sitting with two younger brothers. She had instructions, as is the case with most parents, not to allow anyone in the house. The sub-committee investigator flashed his Senate identification card, an imposing document to a youngster, and announced to the 13-year-old that he would park in the living room until her parents returned. Three frightened kids, needless to say, thankfully greeted dad and mom when they got home.

A Washington newspaper, the Times Herald, printed campaign literature for Butler during the election fight. One publication, a tabloid, carried a composite picture showing Tydings and Earl Browder, the one-time Communist party chairman, in close conference. It was labeled in the publication as a composite, or split picture. The newspaper staff has been harassed ever since.

Finally, the sub-committee investigator was asked to scram from the premises and not return until the chief counsel had cleared his future visits with the newspaper's lawyers.

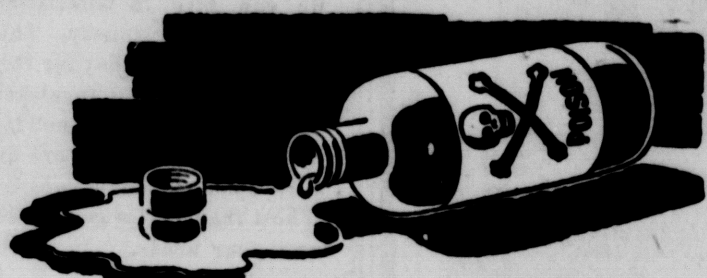

Such antics have brought to mind among a group of GOP Senators the 1946 investigation of the primary campaign in Montana, when former Senator Burton K. Wheeler was defeated. Copies of testimony taken at hearings during this investigation have never been published. In fact, all but one copy has vanished. In the testimony, one item stands out. This incident involved a $2,300 reprinting job of the Communist dominated, but now defunct, newspaper PM. The edition smeared Wheeler. Thousands of copies were distributed in Montana.

A number of interested Senators are preparing a resolution, which will ask the Senate to print 50,000 copies of the hearings held during the Wheeler campaign investigation. They think the public will be interested, in view of the furore being raised about the Tydings-Browder picture. The single copy remaining in existence is under lock and key, but the individual who has it is willing to turn it over to the public printer for reproduction. In view of what is going on in order to save face for Tydings, maybe we ought to have all the details of this suppressed report. If we can't get it from the Senate, stick around. ## Bristol Man Held For Death of An Aged Man

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 2—A Bristol man was held for the Bucks County Grand Jury yesterday at a coroner's inquest into the death of George J. Johnston, 84, of Newportville road, Bristol Township, on December 20th, last.

The driver of the car, Charles E. Smith, Third avenue, Bristol, was placed under $2000 bail to await the action of the grand jury.

Smith was driving east on the Newportville road at about one o'clock in the afternoon. At the time he said that he did not see Johnston who had just left the home of his daughter, Mrs. Agnes Coster, opposite the Bristol Cemetery, where he resided.

The victim was taken to the Nazareth Hospital but died shortly after being admitted.

NEWS OF SCHOOLS IN AREA---

All public, private and parochial schools in the Bristol area are invited to send news items for publication in this column which appears frequently.

St. Mary's Hall

BURLINGTON, Feb. 2 — There will be an unusual presentation and an interesting address, by a famous scientist, tomorrow evening at eight o'clock. Dr. Armand N. Spitz, lecturer at Franklin Institute and one of the country's leading astronomers and meteorologists will be the speaker. Dr. Spitz is the scientist who has made it possible for many educational institutions to study the stars through the use of the Spitz Planetarium.

He devoted many years of experiments to Model A, which stands about three feet high, weighs readily portable. It is an inexpensive instrument available to individuals and organizations.

The presentation that is to be made is uniquely related to the early days of the school. Those who have seen the class photographs in the corridors leading to study hall, may recall that in the early photographs there was usually a telescope. It was formerly the property of Samuel Gunmore who sold what is now the school's central building, to the Rt. Rev. George Washington Doane, the founder of St. Mary's Hall. Mr. Gunmore, who had formerly conducted a private school in this building, became one of the first instructors at St. Mary's and brought his telescope with him. This one however later disappeared, but recently Mrs. Henry Gunmore, Philadelphia notified the school that she had the sister telescope of the one that appears in the class photographs, her husband being a descendant of Samuel Gunmore's brother—both brothers had brought identical instruments from England, and Mrs. Gunmore believes the remaining one logically belongs at the Hall. She will present it to the school on Saturday evening.

Because of this presentation, Miss Florence Lukens Newbold, St. Mary's Headmistress, thought it particularly appropriate to invite Dr. Spitz to be the speaker of the evening. He will explain how the glories of the Universe may be revealed through the use of the telescope as well as describing some of his work in the development of his Planetarium.

This event is open to the public and should have a particular appeal to those interested in astronomy and meteorology.

Bristol Borough

The Latin Club of Bristol high school held its annual Latin banquet on Tuesday, under direction of Miss Edwina Sykes.

The banquet, called the "Sater-nalia" by the Romans, started with a toast to the gods. The first course consisted of appetizers; and the second and third courses took place after a dance by Janet Stephenson and the "Stabat Mater" sung by the girls' quartet. Additional entertainment between and after the courses included saxophone number by Leonard Pierro; piano solo by Phoebe Sheffey and a flute solo by Maybeth Brown, president of the club. Eleanor Scheetz was accompanist.

Louise Davis rendered a short play in pantomime and Latin songs were sung by those attending. A one-act play "Io Sater-nalia" was also given by club members.

Ten eighth graders were "slaves" for the banquet and served the meal.

The menu, consisting of grape juice, lettuce, celery, olives, pickles, chicken, broccoli, string beans, carrots, fruit and cookies, was prepared by the Mother's Association. Approximately 60 attended, including many pupils and a few members of the faculty.

SPORTSMEN'S BRIEFS

By JOE ELBERSON

Meeting . . . next Monday evening, February 5, delegates from the county's organized sportsmen's clubs will gather in Doylestown for a regular meeting of the Bucks County Federation of Sportsmen's Clubs. All member clubs are urged to have representation at the meeting which will get underway at 8 p. m.

Duck banding . . . between Nov. 6 and Nov. 22, exactly 1000 ducks were trapped and banded at Pymatuning Refuge in the western part of the State. Blacks and mallards predominated, but a few pintails and red-heads were also banded. The banding is done to determine the migration pattern of the waterfowl using this refuge.

In 1949 a total of 750 ducks were banded at the refuge and already bands have been returned from 18 states and three Canadian provinces. Some of the Canadian bands were recovered by Indians in remote sections and brought into the Hudson Bay outposts where they were reported to the U. S. Fish & Wildlife Service.

The widespread recoveries of these bands continues to show that conservation of waterfowl is an international as well as a national problem. It proves, also, that a great majority of the puddling ducks that use Pymatuning Refuge cut back to the Mississippi flyway, and that not all use the true Atlantic Flyway as formerly supposed.

Unique . . . a Missouri conservation officer noted a sign on the farm of George Garrett that broke the monotony of the usual "No Hunting" posters. The sign read: "Keep Out—God Sees You—Garrett's Night!"

No guessing ages . . . using the system perfected by a representative of the New York Conservation Department, Pennsylvania research workers can accurately determine the age of a deer by its tooth development, tooth replacement and tooth wear.

Through the use of this technique, the age of a deer under 1½ years can be told accurately to the month. After a deer is 1½ years old, its age can be determined accurately, by years, to the age of 10½.

Meeting and shoot . . . this Sunday morning, at 11 o'clock, an important meeting of the Board of Directors of the Newportville Rod & Gun Club will be held at the club house, Haunted Lane, Eddington.

Beginning at noon on Sunday the Club will run a 16-yard, 50 target Lewis Class bluecock shoot, and all shooters are invited to participate.

Joy and insurance . . . small birds that remain in Pennsylvania throughout the year are quite capable of taking care of themselves under ordinary winter conditions, ornithologists declare, but falcons in the form of state bread corn, sunflower seed, millet and scratch grain are greatly relished. Little children and shut-ins, particularly, enjoy watching cardinals and less colorful but merry little birds as they cavort about the drab winter landscape, attracted by feed at outdoor cafeterias.

Another group of persons (sportsmen) are also interested in seeing a particular species of bird (pheasant) when November rolls around. They can help to insure this prospect by also doing some feeding during the rough winter months when these gamesters sometimes find it difficult to pick up a living.

Annual shoot . . . the annual winter snow shoot of the Penn Oak Bowmen's Archery Association is scheduled for this Sunday, beginning at 10:30 in the morning. The shoot, which will be held at Wrightstown, will include 11 regular targets and a moving deer target. All bowmen and spectators are welcome to attend.

PROFY TEAM PILES UP OVER 70 POINTS ON FRANKLIN FIVE

For its second straight game, the Profy team scored over 70 points as it swamped Franklin A. C. 74-40, last night in a Bristol Basketball League contest on the Edgely Fire Company floor. Last Sunday, the Profymen scored 73 points against Rohm and Haas, giving them a total of 147 points in two games.

The triumph enabled the Mill Streeters to stay one-half game behind the league-leading Lucisano team.

Joe Pindar scored 31 points on 16 fielders and two free shots. He broke his mark of 29 scored last Sunday and the total gave him 63 points in two tilts.

Franklin found it very difficult to score in the first half, making but eight points. In the first session, it was blanked from the floor while in the second quarter, Frank Barbetta and Pete DeLuca scored double-digits. Profy's had a 26-3 lead at the end of the initial quarter and stretched it to 34-8 at the half.

MORRISVILLE JAYVEES SMOTHER DELHAAS

The Morrisville Junior Varsity team had an easy time with the Delhaas Junior Varsity yesterday afternoon on the Rohm and Haas court. Final score was: Morrisville, 53; Delhaas, 35.

The Morrisville contingent scored 32 points in the second half to make things easier for it. At half-time, it had but a seven-point edge, 23-16.

Frank Garman and Jim Bambach scored 13 of Morrisville's 21 field goals. Francis Schade and Lester Gibbs accounted for 25 Delhaas counters.

In the preliminary game, the Morrisville Junior High team moved into second place in the Lower Bucks Junior High League with a 30-15 triumph over Delhaas Junior High.

The Byldogs were held to a 10-16 deadlock in the first half but with Gaskill hitting the cords consistently in the second half scored 29 points to clinch the tilt.

LUCISANO FIVE KEEPS GRIP ON LEAGUE LEAD

The Lucisano Brothers team, of Tullytown, maintained its grip on first place in the Bristol Basketball League by winning over the Rohm and Haas quintet, 61-47, last night on the Edgely Fire Company court.

Other than the final period, the game was more closely played than the score indicates. Many times during the tilt, the count was deadlocked and at the end of the third session, Lucisano had a 4-point lead, 29-25. But in the finale, the Tullytown aggregation began an avalanche of goals to make the contest a runaway.

"Mickey" Stradling highlighted the last period rally with 10 points on four fielders and two fouls. He scored 17 points of the night, one more than Johnny Paone. Roy Lynch also hit the double-figures with 15 points.

The Rohm and Haas team did the iron-man stunt of completing the game with five players. "Jim" Egli
